Musical Theater for Teens

In this class, students in middle school and older will learn to communicate a scene using a song as a monologue set to music. The class provides a solid framework in which to enhance and improve vocal technique, learn how to deepen the connection to a character, and explore methods to create a rich narrative for the song in the actor's imagination then effectively convey that narrative to an audience.

Improvisation techniques and classic theater exercises are utilized in combination with vocal training, diction, and movement as each student learns and prepares a solo piece along with a group song and dance number.

The class concludes with a performance at our Spring Recital
